Most people, when asked to describe their talents, have difficulty describing them. The purpose of this section is to provide insights into your top talents in three areas: Personal Skills, Values (motivators) and Behavioral Traits. Everyone has a unique set of strengths within these three areas that will be instrumental to success and self-fulfillment. No one is equally talented in everything. In fact, the quickest way to burn out is to try to be all things to all people.

PERSONAL INTERESTS, ATTITUDES AND VALUES FEEDBACK

Your motivation to succeed in anything you do is determined by your underlying values. You will feel energized and successful at work when your job supports your personal values. The following are your 3 highest ranked personal values:

1. INDIVIDUALISTIC/POLITICAL

- You value personal recognition, freedom and control over your own destiny and others.
- The primary interest for this value is POWER, not necessarily politics. Research studies indicate that leaders in most fields have a high power value. Since competition and struggle play a large part in all areas of life, many philosophers have seen power as the most universal and most fundamental of motives. There are, however, certain personalities in whom the desire for direct expression of this motive is uppermost; who wish, above all, for personal power, influence and renown.

2. UTILITARIAN/ECONOMIC

- You value practical accomplishments, results and rewards for your investments of time, resources, and energy.
- The Utilitarian score shows a characteristic interest in money and what is useful. This means that an individual wants to have the security that money brings not only for themselves, but for their present and future family. This value includes the practical affairs of the business world - the production, marketing and consumption of goods, the use of credit, and the accumulation of tangible wealth. This type of individual is thoroughly practical and conforms well to the stereotype of the average American business person. A person with a high score is likely to have a high need to surpass others in wealth.

3. SOCIAL

- You value opportunities to be of service to others and contribute to the progress and well being of society.
- Those who score very high in this value have an inherent love of people. The social person prizes other people and is, therefore, kind, sympathetic and unselfish. They are likely to find the Theoretical, Utilitarian and Aesthetic attitudes cold and inhuman. Compared to the Individualistic value, the Social person regards helping others as the only suitable form for human relationships. Research into this value indicates that in its purest form, the Social interest is selfless.
